

India Research Foundation

(A Non-profit organization)

Press Release

27 Dec,2005

India Research Foundation launch and its first public engagement

India Research Foundation (IRF) is non profit organization dedicated to the proposition that India and the Republic for which she stands has yet to achieve its proper place in the comity of nations not only as an inheritor of a diverse, rich and unique tradition but as a nation of talented and industrious people who are rapidly making their mark on the global scene in many areas such as high technology as well as the arts in literature, music and in other areas.

IRF is committed to enhance awareness of the antiquity, diversity and ontological scope of Indic civilization, its profound contributions it has made to many spheres of activity of the human species, and to dispel lacunae and misconceptions in the understanding of such contributions in India and the Western hemisphere.

IRF will seek to explore the future of India as a nation and the future of the Indic peoples, as they make their presence felt all across this planet and examine the challenges and achievements to date and the progress that is being made in realizing the unfulfilled promise and potential of this nation and its talented populace.

We intend to initiate this activity by holding a series of lectures on a variety of topics based on the research of individual members of the foundation. By doing so we hope to present some unique insights and dispel unwarranted assumptions about India, her past and expectations of her rightful place in the family of nations.

Press Release

India Research Foundation (IRF) is non profit organization dedicated to the proposition that India and the Republic for which she stands has yet to achieve its proper place in the comity of nations not only as an inheritor of a diverse, rich and unique tradition but as a nation of talented and industrious people who are rapidly making their mark on the global scene in many areas such as high technology as well as the arts in literature, music and in other areas.

IRF is committed to enhance awareness of the antiquity, diversity and ontological scope of Indic civilization, its profound contributions it has made to many spheres of activity of the human species, and to dispel lacunae and misconceptions in the understanding of such contributions in India and the Western hemisphere.

IRF will seek to explore the future of India as a nation and the future of the Indic peoples, as they make their presence felt all across this planet and examine the challenges and achievements to date and the progress that is being made in realizing the unfulfilled promise and potential of this nation and its talented populace.

We intend to initiate this activity by holding a series of lectures on a variety of topics based on the research of individual members of the foundation. By doing so we hope to present some unique insights and dispel unwarranted assumptions about India, her past and expectations of her rightful place in the family of nations. The first of these talks will be held on January 27,2006.

India Research Foundation (A California Non-profit Organization)
1556 Halford Ave #257, Santa Clara CA 95051